

10 ESSENTIAL THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT RABIES

Dogs and cats should be vaccinated against rabies every year.

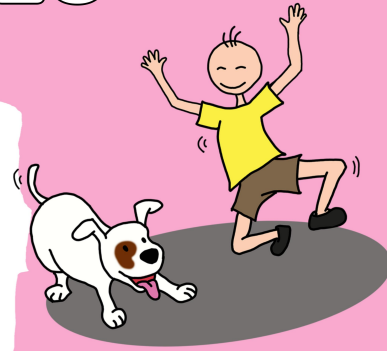

Take good care of your pets. Give them enough food and a safe place to stay.

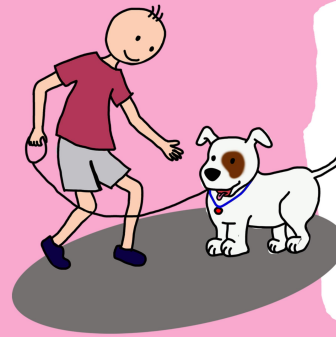

Do not let your pet dogs and cats roam freely in streets and other public places.

Do not maltreat dogs and cats. Do not kick, pull their tails, or throw stones at them.

Stay away from stray dogs and cats. Do not bother your pet dogs and cats when they are sleeping, eating, or feeding their young.

Wash the wound immediately with soap and running water.

Remember that people can get rabies from the saliva (from a bite or scratch) of a rabid dog or cat.

Rabies kills.

Immediately tell an adult (parent, teacher, guardian) about the bite incident and ask them to take you to a Health Center or Animal Bite Treatment Center (ABTC).

Rabies can be prevented by having your pet dogs and cats vaccinated.
